

2

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention comprises an oxygen mass flow rate detecting means for detecting or calculating a mass flow rate of oxygen fed to a filter and a regeneration end determining means for determining a regeneration end of the filter in accordance with information provided from the oxygen mass flow rate detecting means and upon arrival of an integrated value of the oxygen mass flow rate at a predetermined value during regeneration of the filter.

10